To whom it may concern,

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation for Denys Bushulyak. As the Co-Founder & CTO at Now You Know, I have had the pleasure of working closely with Denys from July 2021, and I can confidently attest to his exceptional abilities, drive for excellence, and an impressive passion for innovation and technology.

Since joining our team, Denys has been an exceptional asset, significantly enhancing our operations with a blend of technical brilliance and innovative thinking. As a software engineer, Denys excels in creating solutions that not only address our immediate challenges but also streamline our processes for better efficiency. This passion for technology and its application to improve our workflows has been both inspirational and transformative, making Denys a standout contributor to our software engineering initiatives.

Beyond his technical skills, Denys stands out for his strategic vision and his capacity to identify and capitalize on opportunities for improvement. His proactive approach to adopting and implementing new technologies has significantly advanced our company's objectives, setting new standards for excellence within our team.

Denys's continuous pursuit of professional growth, combined with his commitment to keeping abreast of the latest industry trends, demonstrates his dedication to excellence in the field. His forward-thinking nature and ability to adapt to and lead through technological advancements make him a valuable asset to any team or project.

In conclusion, Denys Bushulyak stands out as a remarkable software engineer, whose contributions have consistently propelled innovation and set new standards of excellence within our team.

His ability to transform challenges into opportunities for advancement is sure to bring invaluable insights and results wherever his career path leads.

Sincerely,

Ofer Feder
